

YOUR WEDDING AT MCARTHUR MANOR

A private Scottish manor, personally looked after

BLAIRGOWRIE - SCOTLAND

A WEDDING THAT BELONGS TO YOU

Planned around the people, not around a package

McArthur Manor will not be the right choice for every couple - and we are comfortable with that. We do not offer a wedding selected from boxes on a brochure. Each celebration is planned individually around the couple, their guests and the way they want the occasion to feel.

Some couples arrive with every detail already imagined. Others want us to guide the process from the first conversation through to the final dance. Most sit somewhere in between. Whichever way you begin, you deal directly with the people who will plan, prepare and run your wedding.

MORE THAN A SINGLE DAY

A wedding becomes something quite different when the people closest to you are already together. There is time to arrive, settle in, add your own touches and welcome everyone properly before the day begins.

By the wedding morning, the catching up has already happened. The day itself can be about enjoying it, rather than trying to greet every guest and fit an entire celebration into thirteen hurried hours.

Stay for one night, a weekend or longer. There are no fixed arrival or departure days, and our standard 4pm departure means the final morning can still feel part of the gathering.

THE MANOR IS YOURS

One group, one house, every communal space

Exclusive use means exactly that. The Pavilion, lounge, private pub, dining room, courtyard, gardens and ceremony spaces are held for your group. You are not one wedding among several, nor sharing corridors and public rooms with other guests.

THE MCARTHUR PAVILION

Dinner, speeches, music and dancing can all unfold in one generous room, without losing the warmth of a private house. By day, natural light pours through the windows; by evening, thousands of fairy lights, integrated sound, a large screen and flexible lighting allow the room to change with the occasion.

We build the layout around the wedding rather than asking the wedding to fit a standard floorplan.

WHAT YOUR WEDDING FEE INCLUDES

No small surprise charges for what is already in the house

- Exclusive use of the entire Manor and its communal spaces.
- Planning support from booking through to departure.
- Direct contact with our events team to shape a personalised wedding.

PERSONALLY LOOKED AFTER

The way the Manor runs is part of what makes it different

NICHOLAS & CYNTHIA

We changed the direction of our lives to be here because we genuinely enjoy bringing people together and making complicated occasions feel calm, personal and well run.

Couples are not passed from a sales team to a coordinator and then to a duty manager. From the first enquiry, you work directly with the people who will prepare the house, coordinate your suppliers and be present when the plans become real.

Our role is not to take over your wedding. It is to give your ideas structure, anticipate the practical details and make sure you can be fully present with the people who matter.

“By the time we said ‘I do,’ it felt like we’d gained two new friends.”

CAITLIN - SCOTLAND

STAY TOGETHER

Sixteen en-suite bedrooms, a private house and time to enjoy it

Accommodation at the Manor is charged separately from the wedding fee, allowing you to choose the length of stay that suits your gathering. The house sleeps up to 35 adults, with space for additional children, across sixteen en-suite bedrooms.

Explore the house at your own pace and picture how your group could use it.

THE PRIVATE PUB

The pub quickly becomes the heart of a stay. It is where people gather to share moments together, where the rehearsal-night conversation carries on, and where residents drift back after the music ends.

Have a barkeep serve drinks and cocktails, arrange a pour-your-own-pint barrel, set up karaoke, or simply leave it as a comfortable room where everyone can relax. Because the Manor is yours, the pub is yours too.

BRING SCOTLAND INTO THE CELEBRATION

Genuine experiences, shaped around your guests

PIPER

CHIEFTAIN ADDRESS

WHISKY

HIGHLAND GAMES

A ceilidh dance, handfasting, piper, whisky tasting, Address to the Haggis, Scottish history, Highland games or a carefully planned excursion can become part of the stay. These are not fixed add-ons from a list; we help choose and coordinate the details that suit the people attending.

ONE WEDDING, FIVE DAYS TOGETHER

A destination celebration created for an American couple

THURSDAY

Airport coach, red-carpet welcome, whisky cocktails, games, Scottish history and an evening in the pub.

FRIDAY

Golf, a private Glamis Castle visit, rehearsal dinner and casino night.

SATURDAY

Wedding ceremony, afternoon tea style canapes, reception dinner, speeches, dancing and a residents' bar.

SUNDAY

Family-friendly Highland games, axe throwing, clay shooting, whisky and chocolate, dinner, movie and karaoke.

FAREWELL

A relaxed breakfast and lunch before the coach returned everyone to Edinburgh Airport.

The itinerary is an example, not a package. Every wedding begins again with the couple.

IN THEIR OWN WORDS

Two weddings, two very different journeys

GRACE - USA

“Our dream wedding! Biggest thank you to Nicholas and his team for creating our dream day, with every detail considered... There were several options for our ceremony but we chose the band stand, which served as the perfect location for our 90 guests.

The function room for the reception was beautifully decorated and we were able to add our own personal touch... Staff were delightful and accommodating.

We booked the Manor for the week prior to the wedding to enable UK and USA guests to have one base and highly recommend this option.”

CAITLIN - SCOTLAND

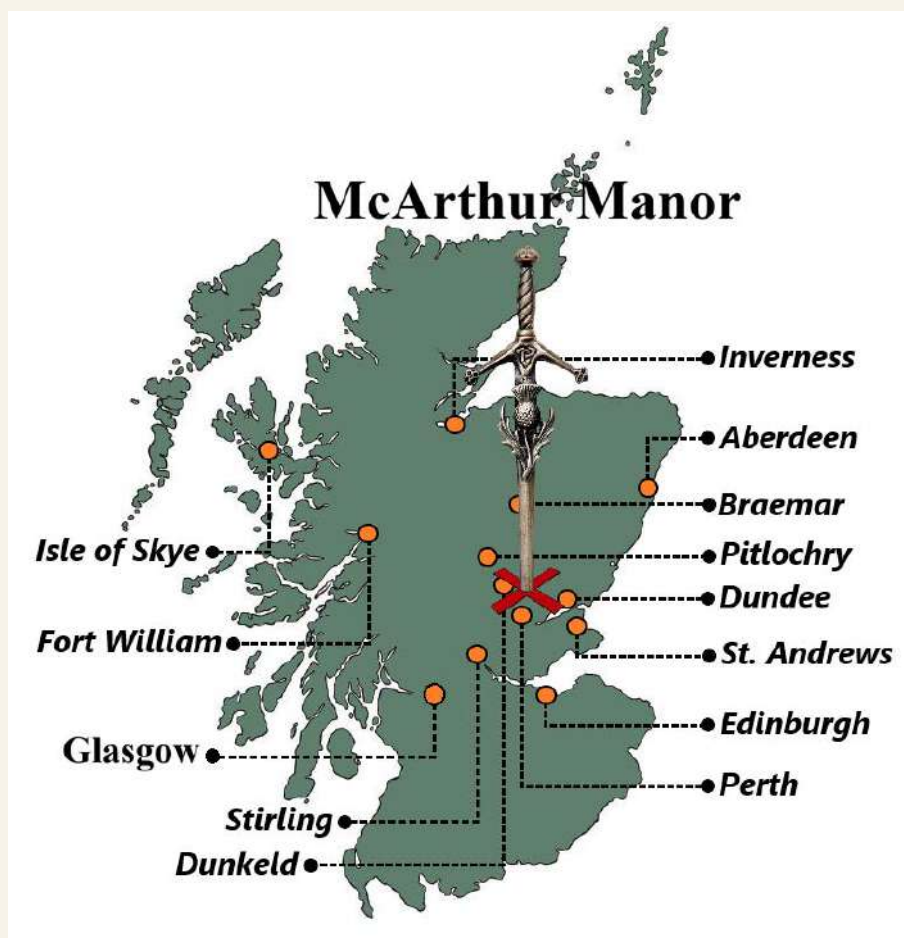

“Our wedding at McArthur Manor was nothing short of magical. From the moment we arrived, Nicholas and Andy made us feel at home, supported and genuinely cared for.

The Manor is traditional, cosy and full of character... The function suite was perfect for our 60-guest celebration, and the lounges and bars created lovely pockets for conversation and relaxation.

Nicholas’ organisation made the whole planning process effortless. Timelines, allergens, room allocations - every detail was handled with care. We never felt stressed, only excited.”
